“ Mommom, I just don't know how to express everything you meant to me. You were always so spiritual and always had positive things to say and always said the right thing to make me feel better. I have missed you for a while now and missed our talks, but I always felt you in my heart. You and poppy were always my inspiration, your love was so powerful and it was something I admired. I love you so much mommom, and will miss and think about you always.
