“ Six months passed and still most days it seems like a bad dream and even some days I wake up and pause, only to realize the harsh reality that we don't get to laugh and joke like we have been doing for nearly two decades...the town seems different without you, almost tainted and empty as if the good times will never be the same. I can honestly say that even after all the stupid things we've done and couldn't believe we made it through, for some reason I was convinced you'd live forever and we really would be those two immature old guys that laughed at inside jokes that only we got...but for now I guess I'll just hafta remember the good times on my own until we meet again my brother...but not to worry, even though my memory may not be what it use to, your smile, laugh, gestures, and other idiosyncrasies are still vivid and very much alive in my memories and daily thoughts my friend! Miss you dearly bro.

“ My Heart Breaks for all of you at this most difficult time. Please know that our thought and prayers are with you & your family now. As you move forward through the coming days, weeks, & months, Hold close your most cherished and happy memories. I remember Angus (and Pat) from many years ago when we all worked together at BT Boomers. Angus was always quick with a smile. Kidding around laughing, and cheering us up whenever the shift wasn't going quite right. He was fiercely loyal, and always had my back especially if a customer got out of hand. Angus also gave us 'his' puppy Ginger to watch when he couldn't keep her at his apt. She definitely had a mind of her own... a little bit of Angus must of rubbed off on her I think. Ginger gave us almost 10 years of Joy. Maybe they will see each other in heaven. May you rest in peace my friend. You will be greatly missed.

“ Angus was a trip! Always new how to make people smile or laugh. I remember when he would come into Collision Revision every morning to grab his truck... Even at 730 before most of us had coffee he was cracking us up!! He's personality will be everlasting in many memories!! You will be missed!!

“ I can't even categorize it as reality right now, can't quite grasp the concept that he's actually gone...after 18yrs of practically an inseparable friendship coming to an abrupt ending,it feels like a bad dream that I can't wake up from. He was so full of personality and life that you'd almost think he'd live forever. Angus and I had a several ongoing jokes and agreements throughout our friendship....one being that the two of us would probably end up those two onery old bastards on the porch, alone because nobody else could stand us or understand our sense of humor...with Angus tryin' to whack people with his cane! It's heartbreaking to think now that it will never happen...he woulda made a great grumpy old man. So I guess for now,we will all hafta find something else to amuse ourselves here while Heaven gets to be a much better place with your presence...please save a spot for me brother,I know I will see you again and I will miss you terribly until that day comes. -Bret-

“ I built my morals around what this great man believed. Angus had been my best friend ever since i was a child. The values that he instilled in me in my teen years reflect who i am today and is the keeper of a few of my secrets that i trust nobody else with. I am proud to say that i can call Angus family. He will never be forgotten and i can only hope that my children grow up to be at least half the man that he was. I love you Angus. I miss you. I look forward to the day that we meet again.
