“ My Big Brother. I remember trying to stay up to watch late night TV with you when I was very young. Each time I would fall asleep you carried me upstairs. With you as a Big Brother, I had no fear of anything. You and Dad taught me to stay out of trouble, never back down when you are right and stand up for myself and family. As I got older, you introduced me to your friends as your big, little brother. I've always been proud to be your brother and have admired your bravery, strength and honor whether defending our country or your family and friends. You will always be a part of me and I will carry you in my heart. We will see each other again. Until then, I will know you are looking over me.

Thoughts and prayers go out to Jackie, Tammy, Billy, grandchildren, Mom & Dad, Candy, Nancy, Tink and all friends.

“ I will miss you brother. For all you were to me and my brother who watched over me most of my younger years. On the day I got the news you had passed, it was storming here something bad the skies were black and clouds, the strong winds was bending the trees, the rain was pouring. We was on moms porch with broken hearts. When from deep inside came this feeling and I shouted out in tears Our brother is here passing bye, in the fierce winds saying I am raising hell on my way out because I did not want to leave you all. and the rain is my tears. Then 30 minutes later the storm had ended and I looked up the sky, it was calm the sun was out and still peacefulness, Again that feeling ran straight through me and I looked at everyone and said All is well he has passed over. What peace I felt. So you will always be in my heart and even though you are not here in body you sprit lives on. This message was for Mom & Dad Nancy, Glenn, Tink, Jackie, Tammy, Billy, His grandchildren and Verna. All be in peace. He has only left his earthly body, but his soul has moved on. Love all of you Hoppy you will always be with me, A good son, brother, father, husband and friend and Vet who served his country without question. Love you candy
