“ *Thank you for the flashlight, the handkerchief, the stories about all the Churches you attended when growing up in Barbados. I will visit there someday. The travels around the world, especially France. I will remember your visit to our home and the encouragement you gave my family when we lost our son. I will remember the particular ways you liked to make breakfast-a healthy breakfast for everybody, especially when you visited Atlanta, Georgia. Every journey is circular, said a famous person. The journey of departure and the joy of return. You have returned to your maker. May your soul rest in eternal peace. Until we meet again at the feet of Jesus-kwaheri ya kuonana-. May our dear Lord grant the family peace at the going home of our friend. It was an honor to meet Ashley and enjoy dinner together. We will surely miss the planned visit to Florida.
