“ In the beginning we had our differences, but we came to like one another. I remember your birthday when we surprise you with the cake, ribs, mac n,cheese you lit up like a light. You was so happy that day, thats when I realized no matter what we was family. And now I know why we all called you grandma. You looked out for us so much that even when it didn't seem like you weren't you did. At times I wish I never got that phone call. But I knew nothing could keep you and grandpa apart. So watch our backs just like you always did. with love Allen
