

Eneida Quintana

July 19, 1941 - November 18, 2019

Eneida Carmona Quintana carried one of the brightest souls. Her charismatic personality lit up every room she walked into. In her early life, she rolled cigars in Havana Cuba in the local Romeo and Julieta cigar factory. Throughout this she married, celebrated and enjoyed life alongside her two children: Roberto and Gloria Elena. In the early 1980's she moved over to the U.S.. Here, not only did her family expand, but so did her heart. Not only did she give the best presents, but the best hugs. If you were part of her family she always managed to make big meals, this was how she showed her love. And don't even dare to say "no thank you". One way I will remember her, as many others will as well, was how hard she loved. All the memories will live on forever, as some have already been shared amongst each other. All the souls she touched will remember the warmth she gave off with a hug and kiss on the cheek (or as her grand kids got them, millions of them on the cheek). A vivid picture shall remain in everyone's mind of how she wanted us to remember her: dolled up and ready to take on the day.

Tribute Wall

“ Eneida Quintana

October 09, 2023 at 02:01 AM

“ Eneida Quintana

January 28, 2023 at 12:09 PM