“ We met Frank just before we bought our house and became next door neighbors. He and my husband hit it off immediately. Through the years we have become like family sharing holidays, special occasions and close friendship. Frank never met a stranger. He always had a smile and liked to give me a hard time. He had the worst luck with electronics. He always had something weird happening with his phone or computer. However, any plant he touched grew. We will miss him. Our condolences and love to the family.
