“ Clearly, a life so well lived leaves little to be said here to improve upon it.

Greg reminds me so much of my deceased husband, Martin, who was born in the same year. Martin died of cancer when our children were little. While, when my father died, I immediately knew (I felt him right there with me telling me he was happy, at peace, and free of this earthly life even before my mother, at his bedside, knew he had passed), I sadly never got a "visit" from my incredible husband, and always wondered why.

I hesitate to share this, but I have the feeling it is strongly meant for someone to hear it. I had a dream this morning that I was asked to place a call for Greg. I was told the name several times, "Greg Trammell" very clearly. I could not forget it, even after I woke up. In the dream, when I dialed and told the party on the other end of the line (I wish I could remember that name) he hung up on me. I immediately knew it meant Greg was deceased. I would hang up too if someone was "placing a call" from a loved one no longer with us. The thing is, I'm living four states away in Oklahoma and I'm a complete stranger.

I know I would have wanted to get the message so I'm sticking my neck out here and sharing it. My interpretation would be, Greg wants you to know he's more than fine.
