“ Jamie I think of you everyday. You left behind so much. You never loved yourself. People robbed that from you! If you could have seen you through my eyes you would have seen an amazing woman:)

“ amie jamie jamie. Baby girl. Im so crushed. I just wish i could talk to you, hug you one last time. See that beautiful face that always lit up any room. Your laugh was contagious and when you loved someone..you loved hard..true rider and all around beautiful person. I told you everything and never once ddid you judge or look down on me..you loved my kids unconditionally and they loved you. You were right there for a shoulder to lean on during the hardest time of my life..your friendship was one of a kind. People can aay qhat they want about you, of its nothin good they just didnt know the real you..my memories i will forever cherish an not second goes by that i dont miss you terrible..fly high my angel.

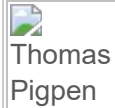

I LOVE YOU BABY

You brought laughter to those who knew you. I am sorry that you could not love yourself as others loved you. Your life ended way to soon for you to ever truly understand this. You will be a child forever. Rest in peace. My condolences to your parents, your sister and your children.

I am going to miss that beautiful smile. I wish you would have been able to fight your demons. God is with you and you are flying with the angels now. You have no more pain, worries or guilt. Rest in Peace and Prayer to all the ones that you have touched their hearts. We had some great talks and became close during a bad time. You were more special then you know. I love and will miss you deeply.
