“ You are forever in our hearts Brother. May you rejoice in the arms of our Father as we celebrate your life, we also shall always miss the many fond memories you gave us all and as much as our hearts are full of sorrow for our loss we can only be heartfelt and envious knowing you are walking with our Father in Heaven.

“ Jay I am so lost without you in my life!!! I can't imagine what a loss your family must be dealing with. You growled like a grizzle bear but those of us lucky enough to know you know that the biggest heart of anybody was kept in you. You were the first person I would call when I needed help or a true friend to set me straight. I know we will meet again. I still will have a conversation with you every day on my way home from work, just like I did every day, and I always look forward to our talks. You will always be my bestfriend and will never be gone from my heart!!! My prayers are with you and all your family.

Your eternal friend

Jeff Record

I am a much better person for knowing you!!!

“ The memories have been great, and it breaks me to think we have to say goodbye. I loved being around the family as if one of my own. Christmas was the best time! I remember helping him put up Christmas decorations all outside the house, both Josh and I. We'd spend the football seasons together, watching the Giants play. I will never forget the Giants Superbowl in 2008, that we had all celebrated together. We were all seated outside eating food with the big TV broadcasting the game and I specifically remember Jeff cussing out loud in excitement LOL! Josh and I would always talk smack to Jeff, and he'd dish it right back out at us... But we'd always win... haha. Jeff has always been upbeat, laughing or joking. I cannot stress enough how much he will be missed! Rest in peace Jay Bird! You will come to mind the next time the Giants make it to the Superbowl... God bless your soul.
