“ My loving Lee loved me our pets, gardening, fruit trees and sailing to the islands steaks on the grill, and mostly our 51 foot sailboat we had. He enjoyed the thrill of catching large fish, and just the sound of the sail when it rose to the top of the mast and went whoosh real loud to let you know it was in the wind and here we go. He taught me how to do all the things on the sailboat in case I ever had to do it. We Loved cooking together and boy could he cook. Every thing he cooked was fantastic tasting, Seafood gumbo, homemade hot dog Chile, steaks on the grill, pork in the smoker or fish in the deep fryer. His homemade veg. soup was so good you would keep eating it. From dirty rice to making our home canning or making homemade sausage, he loved being in the kitchen and cutting up veg. for his next dish. I miss him every moment of my day with him. We spent every day of our married life together, with the exception of maybe 1 month of working away from home. We loved to do things together, go places together and just be together. We both found our soulmate on the evening we met and that never changed. His employees told me I tamed the lion, and he agreed. My Love you and you will be missed eternally. Your Smurfet Cathy.
