“ My heart is full of dispare... I know you are no longer there. I miss you ever so much. Lyle A. Butler was a great man. He was a father, son, brother, husband and friend. His smile was contagious and warm. He always had the best intentions in everything he did. His death is a tragedy as he left behind so many that loved him. You are truly an angel now. Watch over us all. 8.15.80 - 9.18.10 RIP

“ Lyle, I never had the pleasure of meeting you but from being friends with your Mom and Dad I know you were a loving, caring, terrific person and you are at peace now! Gary and Karen, I know this is hard for you both but he is in a better place now!! There are no words to express my feelings towards your tragedy! The pain will always be there but God will give the strength you will need to carry on with out your baby and to always live and remember the beautiful memories you have of him.

Lyle Alan Butler, may you rest in Peace.....

“ I never got the pleasure to meet Lyle, but I know he was a wonderful man.

Gary and Karen, You are the most wonderful people anyone could ever hope to meet and know.

April, I have never met you, but you are in my thoughts and prayers. Just smile and remember the time you did have with Lyle.

My deepest sympathies to the entire Butler family..

“ I never had the honor to meet you during your short time here on earth. I am sure you were loved very deeply by your parents, brothers, sisters, friends and your wife April. The Lord calls home, too early for some of us to understand why. You were chosen because he needed a very special Angel. Only you could serve him in a very special way he has chosen just for you. You will have eternal peace. Also deeply missed by the ones who's lives you touched and were loved so deeply by. You are the newest, brightest star in the sky.

“ My kids and Lyle grew up together in Hinckley. There were friendships there and now there are holes. Lyle was a good boy and will be missed by many. We are so sorry this is happening to our good friends and pray for each one of you to find peace and rest in your futures. Lyle is at peace and may he rest in the arms of JESUS forever-more.

“ Words at this time are inadequate, but know you are surrounded by friends, family, and the love of God at this time. Keep the memories fresh. I do know how you are hurting at this time and if you let Him, God will get you through this difficult time. May He give you and your family strength at this time.

“ Lyle- me and Jayden will always remember your smile and presences when you were always happy. I'll never forget you teaching me and Jayden how to fish. You will always be a part of our hearts. Many people would say apart of themselves die, but I feel me and you are closer than ever because you can see Jayden every day and guide us in the right direction. You will never be forgotten, we love and miss you very much.
