From Uncle Jim: "Madeleine, I was with you while your mother was carrying you in England and was honored to be your Godfather at Christening. I remember "Bu" fondly referring to her little "magdosia". Later, when you lived in Milwaukee and then visiting with the Diab family in Maplewood, we remember seeing you mature into a lovely, intelligent woman. You are missed."

From Aunt Nancy, "The Diab children were always favorite guests at our home. Even though the times together were shorter than we would have liked, they were always treasured. We all remember sitting on Busia's porch together talking and laughing (so many cousins!); playing with new puppies at our home; sharing dinners together with Uncle David & Aunt Alice's family, too. We were shocked and sad when we received the news of your illness. Rest in peace, dear neice; our love goes with you."

“ Dear John and all who love Madeleine,

My heart breaks for you all. I mourn the loss of Madeleine as a mentor and friend. I admired her in so many ways – most especially her elegance, her grace, and her knowledge and willingness to share it.

I was so flattered when Madeleine reached out to me to join her company and so honored to work with her. I remember vividly the last time I watched Madeleine in action, and thought, “oh, there is so much I can learn from you!” But time is a bandit.

I miss her, I miss knowing her as I did and only wish life’s clock had allowed me more time to know her better.

I know your loss is huge and I wish you peace and solace as you heal.

Much love, Jeannie Feenick

“ It is with sadness that I acknowledge the death of my cousin, Madeleine. We were born the same year and grew up a couple thousand miles apart. We got to see each other over the years when she and her family came back to WI to visit the Fons side of the family at regular intervals. I remember visiting her family once in NJ when our whole family piled into the station wagon and drove there for a visit. How quickly the years have passed. She lives on in the hearts of those she loved.
