Madge and Chuck have meant so much to our congregation. Their sweet love for one another was an inspiration. Especially the last year when her health was fading. Every week Chuck would ask us for prayer and give us updates on her. And when she was healthy enough to come with him, the loving way he cared for her was so sweet. Madge never complained about her health. Her sweet spirit filled our hearts with joy. Our prayers are with her family. God Bless ~ Rachel Adams, Cape Coral, Florida

We will miss Madge from our church services. She was always friendly and cheerful. She loved seeing our 11 children and always had a smile for them.

We enjoyed seeing her in church and at our church celebrations. She particularly seemed to enjoy our pastor's 50th anniversary celebration. She displayed the true Christian characteristic of being content no matter what state you find yourself in. We always liked to see the sweet attentiveness Chuck displayed toward Madge. Their relationship displayed true Christian love. We sorrow with Chuck now but know that joy will come when we see Madge again in the life to come.

Our prayers are with Chuck and with all her family.

We always enjoyed seeing Madge at church services. Madge was always a pleasure to be around. Mr. Myers was always so attentive to her. My children loved to say hello to her and Mr. Myers and shake hands. We are thankful to have had the opportunity to know her. We will be praying for her family and Mr. Myers. God Bless.

I met Madge and Chuck ? through HOPE Hospice several months ago. I was their assigned Volunteer. I became a HOPE Hospice Volunteer to give something back to this most wonderful organization after they pretty much saved my life after the sudden death of my husband almost five years ago now. Little did I know, that it was the women and their families that I was about to meet that would truly heal my broken heart.

I know we are all grieving for we lost a very special lady. But I also know that wherever she is ? she?s happy and contented with what she left us.

Over the past few weeks, we did not talk much, but she continued to be interested in what was going on in my life. We would watch Lawrence Welk together and admire the music as she gently dozed on the couch.

I have a unique perspective, as I did not meet Madge until she was ill. I think she has to be one the most gracious woman I ever met in my life! Her courage in the face of her illness made me want to appreciate my life even more. I never once heard her complain. She had somehow found her way to acceptance. She spoke often of her love for dance and her four children. She truly loved her life in Florida with Chuck.

She was a Wife, a Mom, a Grandmother and a dear friend. I?m sure each and every one of us could share something about how this dear woman touched your life.

Madge?s life was a very long one indeed, 92 years. And from what I understand, she was pretty healthy until the last year or so. As she neared the end of her life, she was called upon to find her inner strength ? and that she did.

And how she loved her beloved husband Chuck. I am so glad that I was able to witness their love for each other. His caring and kindness towards his wife was a true testament in what can only be called ?unconditional? love. And I am sure, if the situation had been reversed, she would have been there for him ? as he was there for her.

They that love beyond the world cannot be separated by it.

Death cannot kill what never dies.

My very last memory of Madge, will be of her quietly waiting for her husband to come home so he could tuck her in ? just the way she liked it.

Miss me, but let me go!

*When I come to the end of the road,
and the sun has set for me.*

I want no rites in a gloom-filled room.

Why cry for a soul set free?

*Miss me a little?but not too long,
and not with your head bowed low.*

Remember the love that was once shared.

Miss me, but let me go.

*For this is a journey we all must take,
and each must go alone.*

*It?s all a part of the master?s plan,
a step on the road to home.*

*When you are lonely and sick of heart,
go to the friends we know.*

Bear your sorrow in good deeds.

Miss me, but let me go.

Madge was finally called home to be with our Lord on December 7th, but her love remains.

She will always have a special part in our hearts and I will never forget her. My Tuesday evenings will never be the same without her.

Sleep with the Angels my friend!

“ Mrs. Myers was always a kind woman. She would greet us kindly in church and enjoy seeing our little children. She was blessed a few months ago to be able to attend church nearly every Sunday until her hip problem. It was a joy to see her even though she was wheelchair bound. We enjoyed her company at the church Thanksgiving dinner a few years ago, and we will miss her. She was blessed to have a husband so diligent in caring for her in her old age and through her difficulties. We thank the Lord that she is now in heaven, and we hope that God shall comfort her family while they are apart.

“ We love you Uncle Chuck,
There are not words good enough to describe the overwhelming love our Heavenly Father has for us all especially in our deepest moments of need and grief. Our Lord Jesus promises comfort for us who grieve, and He never fails to deliver, this is so true for us today. 1 Thessalonians 4:14-18 (New Living Translation) 14 For since we believe that Jesus died and was raised to life again, we also believe that when Jesus returns, God will bring back with him the believers who have died.
15 We tell you this directly from the Lord: We who are still living when the Lord returns will not meet him ahead of those who have died. 16 For the Lord himself will come down from heaven with a commanding shout, with the voice of the archangel, and with the trumpet call of God. First, the Christians who have died will rise from their graves. 17 Then, together with them, we who are still alive and remain on the earth will be caught up in the clouds to meet the Lord in the air. Then we will be with the Lord forever.
18 So comfort each other with these words.
Uncle Chuck you are and have always been an outstanding inspiration for us, thank you and may God richly bless you and comfort you now.

*We will miss the faithful attendance of Madge at Nicene Covenant Church. Chuck, her very attentive and loving husband, carried her to church even after she was wheelchair bound. Madge, a beautiful woman for any age, enjoyed the many children of our church. Both she and Chuck represented the elderly in a Godly fashion, greeting them weekly and the children responded to them in kind. Both Chuck and Madge graced with their attendance our church picnics and celebratory dinners. They added much to the life of our family and the ministry of our schools. Unfortunately, our duties at 11 a.m. Monday prevent our family and Madge's many friends from our church attending. However, we are and will be in earnest prayer for the memorial service. We have earnest faith that God has blessed Madge and that she safely rests in the hands of God the Father, where she always abided in life and death.

“ Remembering all the good times with Grandma. Sleeping on the Silver Spray with Amy. Swimming at the Yacht Club. All the cool knick-knacks in the blue bedroom. The pink bathroom. Sleeping on the red carpet - ouch! The 'attic' at the top of the stairs that Grandma let us look in every time! Jeff sleeping on the back porch. I remember one time she and I had Lucky Charms with milk and a scoop of vanilla ice cream for breakfast. Awesome. You will be missed Grandma!

“ Grandma,

I will never forget trips to Euclid: The turnpike, The Silver Spray, your hot pink bathroom, and the hours of mischief my silblings and I got into when we came for a visit. Thanks for giving us our Mom! You will be missed!

“ I have so many great memories of Grandma like the times we went out to the boat and we got to get popsicles out of the chest freezer. The pink bathroom, till this day everyone thinks Bret overflowed the sink by stuffing rags in the sink. Oh yeah and the blue room, I will never forget. The mischief that my brothers and sister caused like waking up in the morning and all the marshmallows are not in the Lucky Charms. You will be greatly missed for your wisdom, knowledge and most of all the legacy that you left behind for all woman. You were and still are a very strong woman. You will never be forgotten and greatly missed by all who had met you. We love you very much. Rest in Peace.

“ Dear Mom,

I cannot even begin to express how saddened I am but I know you're in a better place now with Dad; I'm sure he's glad to be with you again and now it will be for eternity; no more separation from each other. Despite your passing, I would rather reflect on your life; I thank you for all you have done for me since I was a child; you provided wonderful hot meals, clothed us, unselfishly sacrificed to put us through 12 years of catholic education, etc. All of us kids had a great homelife revolved around God. We pay tribute to you Mom for all you have done over the years; I have shed many, many tears since your passing and you will greatly be missed by all of us; will you please tell Dad I love him and miss him too? Someday, I will see you both and I will give you a big hug and never let go...thanks for being my mom and you will never be forgotten.
