Michael Duggan

March 25, 1966 – March 21, 2025

With heavy hearts, we announce the passing of Michael Duggan, a beloved son, a devoted brother, and the most cherished uncle to 16 nieces and nephews. A best friend and confidant to many, Mike had a way of making everyone feel like family.

Originally from Queens and Massapequa, NY, Mike spent the last 30 years calling Florida home. But as he always proved, “You can take the boy out of Queens, but not the Queens out of the boy.” Nicknaming himself the “Godfather of Florida,” Mike was a true caretaker—always looking out for others, always bringing people together. His presence was larger than life, and his kindness knew no bounds.

A natural storyteller and a legendary prankster, Mike had a way of making people laugh, even on their worst days. He loved Christmas and even played Santa a few times.

He was passionate about his family, his friendships, and his teams—the Jets and the Mets—with a special love for spring training season.

To know Mike was to love him. His warmth, humor, and unwavering loyalty will be deeply missed, but his spirit will live on in the countless lives he touched.

Rest easy, Stonebreaker .You will be remembered forever in our hearts

“ Mike, As your sister, I'll always remember you for your protection over me. Your teasing to the point of obnoxious, your laugh so hard to tears. Your blind kindness, but most of all unwavering support. We mourn your loss, but also celebrate the life you lived and the love you shared with all of us. Mike, you will be deeply missed.

“ My Brother Mike

Mike was more than a brother—he was a force of nature. He had a heart as big as his sense of humor, always ready with a joke to lighten the mood or a helping hand when someone needed it. He was generous to a fault, the kind of guy who would give you the shirt off his back and then try to sell you another one—because, after all, he was a salesman through and through. But more than that, he was a great older brother. He led by example, showing kindness, strength, and an unwavering commitment to family. Losing Mike leaves a hole that can't be filled, but his laughter, love, and larger-than-life spirit will stay with us always. Rest easy, brother , every full moon I will listen for your howl "wolfie"

“ Happy Birthday in heaven, Michael.
Give our other Angel Sean, big hugs in heaven when you see him.
I saw a cardinal this morning, as I know this means when a cardinal appears, an angel is near. He came this morning to see me for my birthday, same as yours!
We have beautiful Bellerose memories of you and your beautiful family.
Much love always and forever
