“ I light a green candle in honor of Grumps and his love for frogs. I am lucky enough to be Neil Froman's (my 'Grumpy') youngest granddaughter, and for that I am so grateful. There was nothing he was more proud of in this world than his family. To know Grumpy was to love him. I will forever miss him saying "Oh, cripes!"...his cheeseburger requests... letting me play salon with his hair...or talking about how his newest great-grandson was growing like a weed. I will miss his exaggerated stories...his voicemails saying "it's me, your nuisance grandfather again"...and the heartfelt speeches he would give at every holiday. We love you endlessly, Grumpy, and are so proud to be a part of the family you leave behind. Give grandma and Nana and Papa a hug from all of us.
