“ The way you describe the NPR reorpt is a bit misleading. As a recent immigrant, shopkeeper may be one of the few jobs available to her, and should not be used to diminish her reputation. If you listen to the reorpt, she does not claim to be a part of Kim's inner circle, but a person involved with cross boarder trade and crime. Her reorpts are strikingly similar to countless others made by N. Korean defectors.Do you have any evidence that suggests N. Korea has been framed in this? Considering that both China and the US are united on this issue, which is not true in too many places, I think it lends a fair amount of credibility to the situation.
