

Nina Morisseau

January 16, 1954 - September 13, 2016

Nina Morisseau, who was affectionately called Mimine, was born on January 16, 1954 to the union of Derocher Morisseau and Brunette Prochette in L'Asile, Haiti.

She left Haiti and traveled to St. Martin in 1994 and then moved to St. Thomas in 2003. In 2004 she moved to Orlando, Florida where shortly after she accepted Christ as her Lord and personal Savior. She moved to Lehigh Acres to be closer to her older sister Irnesse Paul and would work as a caretaker for other families. She then moved to New York for a few years the felt directed to move back to Lehigh Acres where she eventually met her husband David Franklin. Nina was known for being a kind and loving woman who treated you like family no matter who you were. She did not have any children of her own but has adopted many as her own children. She was an awesome cook, a great caretaker, and will truly be missed by many.

Left to cherish her memories are her husband David Franklin, her sister Irnesse Paul, her brother Wilson Morisseau, and a host of cousins, nieces, and nephews.
