“ Ray was a friend and neighbor when I lived in Burson, CA. His wife, Ruthie, and I became best friends. Little Ray was my son's age so they also became best friends. Big Ray, as we called him, was a soft spoken man whose feathers never seemed to get ruffled. He always made us feel welcome. We were neighbors for about 6 years. But we had the opportunity to see them in New Orleans on vacation 4 years ago, where we shared a condo in the French Quarter together. Ray went up to the rooftop to have a smoke and went missing for a long time. Well, he couldn't find the room and when he went down to the lobby they couldn't help him because he only knew my maiden name! Finally they just looked up "Shirley" and found us. I'm glad we got to spend a fun time with you exploring New Orleans, the Bayou and some fantastic meals together on our last visit. You will always be dear in our hearts.
