“ Uncle Steve was a carefree spirit. He was happy with his lifestyle, although be it dysfunctional to most, to him it was normal. When I was young he was always there. Baiting my hook and playing "two dollars in the jukebox" on his guitar. He called me JJ and I loved him. You will be missed Uncle Stevie...but my heart is happy because I know where you are. You're up there sitting on the most beautiful river bank with a cold beer in your hand, fishing and strumming the prettiest sounding guitar. I cant wait to sit there with you one day! But until then, say a prayer for all of us and we will say a prayer for you! You were loved Uncle Steve. May you rest in peace on Heavens riverbank and in Gods arms. Love you, JJ. 💙💙💙

“ Steve was my brother, I remember how he was able to listen to a song and play it on the guitar. No sheet music for him. He loved to go fishing, we would take my children and go and he would spend most of the time baiting hooks. Also on a fishing trip out in the Gulf of Mexico he caught two Goliath grouper, one was 250 lbs and the other was a little bit smaller. Steve brought me news of our father passing due to an accident while doing work in a grove. We got through it together. He was always there for me when I needed until his addiction to alcohol put an end to the brother I had known, made him into a different person. I will always miss you Steve.
