“ Steven was my 1st cousin 4 years older than me but was also my best friend I grew up looking upto him.and wanting to be just like him he was my mentor as well as my peer. I miss him and think about the times we.had every single day. He will never be forgotten and.will.always be my best friend . A piece of me died right at the moment he did. And I hope he knows how sorry I was that our last few years and the last days were not as close and inseparable as we once were .but I never stop caring about him as my.family and.closest friend I love.him as.a brother and that last time.i saw him he asked me to be his friend in not those words but I should of seen his reach toward me for help to be his friend wen he was all out of them and I pushed him away over feelings and things that held no.real meaning.or matter in my.heart but petty selfish reasons. And he left without saying goodbye or ill see ya later or talk to you soon just gone to look for.someone who would be there for him wen no one was left. I left him without a friend wen he had.been mine for.so.long, I let him down and never did or will get the chance to change that day or even tell him how much he ment to me in my life or just that I loved him and had already forgiving him for past things that in the big picture.ment nothing. I hope he knew that he wasn't alone. Hope he knew that he had friends and people who cared about him. But I will have to live.with the guilt of wut if...one choice.or action and u could be left feeling like a horrible person and never get to say how u felt about.them.and tell them things uv been keeping.inside for so long holding them in but telling urself ull say it to that person one day then.they r gone and ull never.get.another chance..worrying about things.that don't hold depth inside ur heart and keeping.resent inside toward people.who mean alot.to.you.is robbing.you of precious time with that person.u.may never.get.back or have the chance.again to talk to.them . I wish it.wasnt this way I just miss him so much its.hard to see.the.light thru all the dark sadness but gotta.look at everyone.else in.ur.life.and.know.how hurt they.would.be if u weren't there anymore . Dont.hold things.u wanna.say to.someone inside.cause tommorow.may be too late and the chance.to say it is gone.in the blink of.an eye. Goodbye Steven my buddy, my best friend, my older cousin, my mentor ,my crime partner ,my idol. I'ma miss u everyday.. words.cant.describe how.much I'll miss.you.

but I hope this letter let's you know that u were never alone I was always with u in ur heart and in my heart and will always be alive thru me cause u took apart.of me m with you .whereever u r I hope ur at peace and know how much u will.always.mean to me.

There.will.always be that place in my heart for you . Love ya buddy.

I could barely write this letter . Still haven't grieved completely and not sure I will ever but I gotta.move forward or try to at least. 2 months have past and I still can't talk about him without tears pouring.down my face. It's not fair . He had a hard.enough life and.didnt deserve to be taken so early. Didn't get to see his daughter growing up to look just like her mom who was also taken awhile ago at a too young of an age. Just not fair I think. And theres.some real heart pouring on this.page . Real shit. Open ur eyes and ur hearts to those who r in real need .not need for money but need of heart and of just being a friend.life.to short to rush thru it and blow everyone off in the process. Just being there wen somone needs a friend could be the biggest difference of life or death to somone else wen they most desparetly need it. And wut will u do wen that time.comes and ur needed just as a friend . Will u save their life by being that friend or will u be selfish and never stop.thinking about urself and let them fall. There is no do overs. It's the final answer.
