“ Thing 1, I heard a saying today and it went something like "Although a star has fallen you must remember that an angel has risen" and I thought what a fitting qoute to hear on the day that we say good-bye to your body (but never to your spirit). In the last 7 years I've lost 6 important people in my life and I thought losing you would hurt like all the others... But it's different Tia, it hurts so much more! I feel like I got a double hit, I didn't just lose my Tia, I lost my best friend. And to be truthful it sucks! I figure as long as I keep telling myself that you are here with me, in time, eventually, maybe the pain will subdue... I love you Tia! Love, Thing 2
