“ I was in elementary school and someone asked me how many grandparents I had. I said "I have a Grandma and Great-Grandma, a Pap and a Gram, and a Pop-Pop and a Ginny." For most of my childhood I thought a "Ginny" was some ethnic name for grandmother. Some of my friends had "Nonnas", some had "Babcias", and I had a "Ginny".

Thank you for making one last classy appearance at my wedding. I will never forget your determination to make it there. I love you and will miss my Ginny dearly.

“ Ginny was my sister-in-law. I will miss her terribly. I never knew two people that loved each other like my brother and Ginny. They were inseperable. No one could have been a better wife to my brother than Ginny. She will no longer be here in body but she will never ever be forgotten. I grief with my brother for his loss. I will think of her often.
