“ A candle for you Goofy...I think of you often and miss you but I know your looking down on us all.

Tina Crumpton - March 10, 2015 at 09:35 PM

“ Dad not a day or minute goes by without me missing you. Our long talks...debates...and my learning that you were a living example of God's unconditional love. I wish I could hug you and talk over hot coco like we did when I'd get off of work.

“ Tonight as we watched our hometown Christmas parade I heard the drummers for the high school band and tears rolled down my face as I thought of you. You used to tell me that I would make a great drummer because I was able to keep a steady rhythm with pencils. I wanted so badly for you to teach me too but living in another state made it impossible. You developed my love for music, the ability to block out all the other sounds and find the heartbeat of every song. You were the first person to ever wish me a happy mothers day even though I had miscarried you said I was already a mother that meant more to me than you will ever know. I love you Uncle Billy!

“ Uncle Billy, you were so strong of a person when it came to your health and an even stronger person with your beliefs. You never gave up.

God gave you so much and now it's time that you sat down with him and had the conversation you've always dreamed of.

I will cherish all our sit down talks, the drinks we shared, cigars you snuck, and laughs we've had. You will be missed
